DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 5/10/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

First of all, the amendments do not put the claim into acceptable format. The claim does not recite actual method steps. Instead the applicant's claims merely outline a use Electronic Book System.

Secondly, the applicant's amendments and arguments are not sufficient to overcome the 103(a) rejection. The applicant alleges that neither Motorola nor Yasubumi taken alone or in combination disclose the limitation of the limitations of claim 2.

Specifically the applicant has argued that the combination does not disclose a method where the layout headline article is "displayed with toning down and a selected character consistent with a headline article is displayed on the layout headline article overlapped and with enlarged format when the character data of the headline article is selected." However, the examiner asserts that the language used by the applicant to define his method does not serve to limit the method in any patentable sense. These limitation argued by the applicant have not be afforded any patentable weight because they do not serve to further limit the method.

The rejection of claim 2 under 35 USC 103(a) stands.

Art Unit: 3644

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Motorola Inc (WO 97 22102 A) in view of Japan patent abstract (JP 08 292957). Motorola discloses a portable reading terminal that is capable of receiving (1) digitized book content and (2) digitized related information that corresponds to the book contents, from the Internet. Further Motorola teaches a terminal is capable of displaying the digitized information and book contents when an operator "operates" a button. (see abstract). However Motorola Inc does not disclose a terminal receiving a layout headline of a newspaper. The Japan abstract discloses that it is known to receive a layout headline of a newspaper and is capable of toning down the layout heading and is capable of displaying character data consistent with a headline article. (see abstract).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 3644

6. Claim 2 provides for the use of electronic book system, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
